

Lean Consulting and Training

Practical Support for your Lean Journey

Shinka Management's lean consulting and in-house training services provide experienced guidance and unique learning programs to help your team implement and sustain a lean culture within your organization. Our team of veteran Toyota factory managers and Japan-trained lean consultants support clients in over 50 countries.

Consulting support and in-house training cover key lean management practices and their application to a broad range of industries. We work with clients to successfully implement and sustain a lean culture within their operations.

Our training experiences include a mix of presentation, video, practical exercises and discussion. Participants are provided a workbook with all content from the training and a certificate of completion.
